Volunteers Needed

The school could use a few more parents to help with recess duty. If this is an option for you, even very occasionally, please contact Shirley Horch.

Sick Days

If your child has to stay home for sickness or an appointment, I am happy to provide digital copies of the high priority items. If printing is not an easy option, your child can just view the document online and write the answers with pencil and paper, then turn them in for marking

Spelling - Week 3

Spelling tests are on Fridays and the weekly lesson pages are due on Thursdays. The week three words should be written in cursive handwriting. If this is a big hurdle, it may help to write the words in print when your child studies on Monday and Tuesday, then transition to cursive on Wednesday/ Thursday. Check out SpellingCity to help your child study and practice: <https://www.spellingcity.com/users/bakkere>.

LA

The handwriting booklet will be due next Wednesday, September 30. To prepare for our Grade 5 reading program, we have been looking at some short stories and learning how to make connections with the text, relating the story to our personal experiences, to other media we have encountered, and to current or past world events. Next week we will begin our first novel study as a class, The Cay by Theodore Taylor. We will be reading the book in class, having discussions, and writing journal entries.

Math

The next fun facts check-in will focus on the one times table. I will quiz the students on Monday, Sept. 28 during computer class.

Unit Studies

Students are working in cooperative groups on practice Activity Cards in order to build teamwork skills. We have already begun presenting. Next week we will transition to researching the first peoples of Canada.

Class Party

The class has earned 50 points through diligence, attentiveness and kindness! I would like to reward them with a party on Friday, October 2. The movie options we'll be voting on are Ratatouli and Abominable. If you are uncomfortable with either of the options please let me know. Also, if you could send an individually-sized party snack for your child (a small bag of chips or popcorn) that would be wonderful. The snacks will not be passed around.
