Birthdays

---

We will be celebrating each child by sharing memories and verbal gifts on the special day. I also have a birthday box of little treasures for the children to choose from. Your children are an incredible gift. I love to celebrate them! When your child's birthday comes up, he or she is welcome to bring a treat to share with the class. This is totally optional! Please note we are a peanut free school.

Unit Studies

Next week we will be starting our simple machines science unit! We talk about screws, inclined planes, pulleys, wheels and axles, wedges, and levers. We do group investigations, scavenger hunts, and watch short, education videos about these topics and write notes. Instead of a traditional assessment at the end of the unit, students will complete a final project at home (either a compound machine- think Rube Goldberg or a poster of simple machines used in a park). I will show a few student examples from previous years. Instructions will be sent home at least 2 weeks before the project due date. Your children have seen what their classmates in 5A have brought in, so they might already have some ideas of what they would like theirs to be like. Our other science topics for the school year include these topics: changes in matter, human bodies/nutrition, and weather.

Bible

We all make mistakes. God can use mistakes as teaching opportunities to help us grow and develop in our faith journey and in our relationship with Christ. Together, the class will be compiling a book of mistakes from our lives that we've learned from. Listening to examples from other classes is something my students really enjoy - especially if older siblings, friends or cousins have come through 5B.

Bible Memory Verses
